Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 9 is functional, indefinite, and incomplete because it contains functional language not supported by recitation in the claim of sufficient structure to warrant the presence of such language (MPEP 2114).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 2, and 5-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Cretinon (6000148).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cretinon (6000148).

Cretinon shows a shoe comprising an upper (10), a bottom assembly (2) comprising a wear sole (3), a first reinforcement element (4), a second upper reinforcement element (20), and a shock absorbing intermediate sole (5) substantially as claimed except for the exact material for the intermediate sole and the method of attaching the intermediate sole to the remainder of the shoe elements. Cretinon suggests conventional means such as gluing (column 4 lines 60-65) for assembling the shoe. Official notice is taken that the use of EVA for cushioning sole layers and the use of adhesive to assemble plurality layers of soles together are well known and conventional. It would have been obvious to use EVA and adhesive securing means as is well known and conventional in the shoe of Cretinon to provide cushioning and to prevent slipping of layers and to provide a secure arrangement.
